SYMPOSIUM/WORKSHOP History:

Has the symposium/workshop been held previously? If yes, please describe previous symposium details and rationale for repeating session.

These topics have not been presented before. The diagnostic toolkit for the nutritional status will be published in August 2016 in The Dietetic Pocket Guide (www.dieteticpocketguide.com). It has been published in 2014 in Dutch (www.zakboekdietetiek.nl). In 1 year this book was reprinted 4 times and was added to books that are used in the education of dietetic students in The Netherlands. The concept of Critical reasoning has recently been published in Dutch but not in the international field. The practical use of the ICF has been taught in The Netherlands in several courses related to the Dietetic Care Process: Dietetic Diagnosis and Show Effectiveness! Feasible Goals. The ICF has been presented during several EFAD workshops.

SYMPOSIUM/WORKSHOPS Overview:

Insert a short overview of your symposium/workshop proposal. If accepted, this information will be used in publications to promote your session. Overview should not exceed 100 words.

In this workshop you learn about dietetic diagnostics, using the toolkit for the nutritional status, standardised language and critical reasoning.

The dietetic diagnosis is the basis to formulate SMART treatment goals. In the 'Dietetic Pocket Guide' (<http://dieteticpocketguide.com>), all the measuring instruments dietitians use are brought together in the toolkit for the nutritional status. For SMART formulation standardised language is essential. The 'International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health' (ICF) makes this possible. The final step to a complete dietetic diagnosis is critical reasoning: a structured thinking and decision process with the goal to systematically diagnose the problems of the patient.
